

Thinking about
self-employment?

Make Your Journey Work For You

Join us in building a community where personal, economic, and collective empowerment are achieved through self-employment.

Self-employment has many benefits, including creating your own schedule and having greater choice and control over the work you do. But working for yourself can pose certain challenges, especially when trauma, discrimination, and difficult work experiences are part of your past. When other opportunities are not satisfying or viable, self-employment can be your most rewarding career path. How about making a schedule that fits around whatever hours work for you, choosing what you want to do, and deciding who you do and don't work with?

Reclaiming Employment™ is an interactive virtual platform that provides self-employment education and support for people with mental health-related challenges around work.

At Reclaiming Employment, our goal is to help prepare users for both the logistics and the emotional ups and downs of business ownership. Whether you are just exploring self-employment, an aspiring entrepreneur, planning a business, or scaling up an existing business, Reclaiming Employment offers courses and a community of support.
